

Nelson Nunes

Senior Software Developer

Cape Town, South Africa

If you are looking for a dynamic, enthusiastic team player with a keen eye for advancement and improvements in the tech industry then I am confident I would be an excellent fit for your company. My programming career began simply because of my hate of computers, however, I have developed a strong connection to all things tech related over the last 25 years of my career. I am a solutionist who enjoys unpacking problems and working on the best way to resolve it, ultimately providing the client with the simplest solution in advancement. During a break in my academic studies, I endeavoured to understand computers a bit more with a C & C++ programming course. This is where my passion for programming and code began, the impression of the screen being an empty canvas and the code being a brush fuelled my passion for this career. I was fortunate enough to work for well-known international companies early in my career, and advanced my skills in various studies as I believe self-improvement is critical. After 14 years in the industry I found myself unemployed and fell on hard times. I set off on an entrepreneurial mission, during this time I took on a few personal projects whilst studying part-time. Entrepreneurship is no walk in the park, and I made the decision to seek employment on a full-time basis, this would also allow me to develop myself more and stay in touch with the continual advancements this fast-paced environment. My time is spent being the best dad I can to my young daughter, developing myself and staying in touch with tech news, and reaching my unofficial goal of being a 1% top listener on Spotify. Thank you for your time in reviewing my portfolio and I hope to hear from you soon. Nelson.
